

Music

My music class goal for this year is to have fun. Students will be working on patriotic songs and as we get closer to the holidays I am sure some Christmas songs will be added to their repertoire. The second half or so of each class we will be working on playing the bells as a group choir.

As a heads up now, you will know when it is the end of class. If the group keeps their bells from playing extra notes during class then at the end they get one minute of playing them as loud and often as they can possibly play. That noise is your signal that I am done!
